
Thought leadership. We publish updates, articles and papers on business and legal issues relevant to our clients and contacts. Visitors can sign up here to receive notices about topics of interest.

Mayer Brown's appellate practice also continues to have impact outside the courtroom. It recently launched a blog, Guideposts, that informs clients and other readers about punitive damages issues. And that blog joins the successful Class Defense Blog, leading treatises on Supreme Court practice and federal appellate practice, and innumerable other publications and presentations by members of the practice.

See our upcoming events at MayerBrown.com »

Mayer Brown
Appellate News

Docket Reports
& Decision Alerts

•

•