

---

Lewis v. Clarke, No. 15-1500

Indian tribes possess some of the attributes of sovereignty, including sovereign immunity. In this case, an employee of an Indian tribe was sued in his individual capacity for negligently causing a car crash that took place off the reservation but within the scope of the employee's employment. The Court will address whether the action was properly dismissed as barred by sovereign immunity.